

Volta Finance Limited (VTA / VTAS) – November 2019 monthly report

NOT FOR RELEASE, DISTRIBUTION OR PUBLICATION, IN WHOLE OR IN PART, IN OR INTO THE UNITED STATES

Guernsey, 11 December 2019

AXA IM has published the Volta Finance Limited (the “Company” or “Volta Finance” or “Volta”) monthly report for November. The full report is attached to this release and will be available on Volta’s website shortly (www.voltafinance.com).

PERFORMANCE and PORTFOLIO ACTIVITY

In November, Volta’s NAV* total return performance was +0.4%. The YTD performance is 3.5%.

This month, performance was mainly driven by a modest rebound in both CLO debt and CLO Equity prices. The monthly performances  of the sub-asset classes were the following, in local currency: +1.0% for Bank Balance Sheet transactions, +0.9% for CLO Equity tranches; +0.8% for CLO Debt; +0.7% for Cash Corporate Credit deals; and +0.2% for ABS.

Once again this month, CLO Equity positions outperformed CLO Debt (with the strongest performer being USD BB tranches). Year to date, CLO Debt has returned +3.7% and CLO Equity +6.4%.

This further outperformance of equity tranches confirms our strategic decision, developed over the last 18 months, to increase gradually the CLO Equity exposure relative to CLO Debt. Our view is that we are entering a more complex environment for loans which will be characterized by more downgrades than upgrades and default rates beginning to increase, albeit not to an alarming level. Our thesis, as noted previously, is that the best way to benefit from this environment is to invest in CLO equity tranches in preference to CLO BB debt. The price drawdown between CLO Debt and CLO Equity is usually comparable in periods of stress, but CLO Equity is paying far higher cashflows and is able to benefit (through reinvestments in loans at discount or new loans with higher spread) from this kind of environment on a medium to long term horizon.

As at the end of November, CLO Equity positions represented 50.4% of the total assets.

In line with this strategy to increase the CLO Equity bucket at the expense of the CLO debt bucket, we took the decision to reduce the size of the Repo to $35m from the current level of $40m. The Repo has been used to leverage USD CLO Debt which we had felt historically was a more attractive proposition than direct investment in Equity. The reduction will be implemented in December.

Accordingly, in November, we purchased 1 CLO Equity position and continue to commit capital to the existing CMV and CLO Warehouse for the equivalent of €5.7m. On average these positions were purchased with a projected yield above 15%. We sold four CLO debt positions (for the equivalent of €11m).

During the month, Volta received the equivalent of €2.2m in terms of interest and cash flows from its assets. On a rolling 6-month basis we were at €22.6m; an annualised yield at 16.3% of the end of month NAV. Once again, this is the highest level seen for many years for Volta in terms of its ability to generate cash flows from its assets.

As at the end of November 2019, Volta’s NAV was €275.2m or €7.52 per share. The GAV stood at €313.3m.

It should be noted that approximately 11.0% of Volta's GAV comprises investments for which the relevant NAVs as at the month-end date are normally available only after Volta's NAV has already been published. Volta's policy is to publish its own NAV on as timely a basis as possible in order to provide shareholders with Volta's appropriately up-to-date NAV information. Consequently, such investments are valued using the most recently available NAV for each fund or quoted price for such subordinated note. The most recently available fund NAV or quoted price was for 4.9% as at 30 September 2019 and for 6.1% as at 31 October 2019.*

 "monthly performances" are calculated as the Dietz-performance of the assets in each bucket, taking into account the Mark-to-Market of the assets at month-end, payments received from the assets over the period, and ignoring changes in cross currency rates. Nevertheless, some residual currency effects could impact the aggregate value of the portfolio when aggregating each bucket.*
